- 1 (a) Anna decides to start a business importing live salmon. She applies for a licence to import 1000 salmon from Canada as they are bigger than English salmon. The Minister consults the Nature Conservancy Council and the Salmon Breeders' Association. Neither organisation objects so the Minister grants Anna a licence, subject to a charge of £500. Anna thinks that is too much money so she starts importing live Canadian salmon without paying the licence charge.

Explain how the Import of Live Fish (England and Wales) Act 1980 will apply in this situation. [10]

- (b) Guido applies for a licence to import live eggs of Australian freshwater fish. The Minister consults the Nature Conservancy Council, which says it does not know if the live eggs will turn into a type of fish that will destroy the habitat of English freshwater fish. The Minister grants Guido a licence and authorises research on the live eggs being imported. Six months later, the Minister authorises a vet to inspect Guido's fish. The vet arrives very early in the morning and Guido will not let him in as he says it will frighten the fish.

Explain how the Import of Live Fish (England and Wales) Act 1980 will apply in this situation. [10]

- (c) Arnie successfully applies for a licence to import live American shellfish on condition that they are kept separate from English shellfish. Arnie cannot afford to build separate areas on his land for the shellfish so he mixes them together. A month later an inspector authorised by the Minister visits Arnie. The inspector sees that the shellfish are mixed and he tells Arnie they will be seized. Arnie will not let the inspector into his house where he has an additional small tank containing live eggs of only American shellfish.

- (d) Describe the legislative process used when making an Act of Parliament. Assess the extent to which this leads to the making of effective laws. [20]

Section 1

- (1) Subject to subsection (2) below, the Minister may by order forbid either absolutely or except under this section, the import into, or the keeping or the release, in any part of England and Wales of live fish, or live eggs of fish, of a species which is not native to England and Wales and which in the opinion of the Minister might compete with, displace, prey on or harm the habitat of any freshwater fish, shellfish or salmon in England and Wales.
- (2) Before determining whether or not to make an order under this section, the Minister shall consult the Nature Conservancy Council and any other person with whom the Minister considers that consultation is appropriate.
- (3) The Minister may, subject to such conditions as he thinks fit, grant a licence to any person to import or keep live fish, or the live eggs of fish, of a species specified in an order under this section and the Minister may revoke or vary any such licence.
- (4) An order under this section may authorise the making of a charge for a licence under this section and shall specify a maximum charge.

Section 2

- (1) While an order under section 1 of this Act is in force any officer commissioned by the Commissioners of Customs and Excise, a police constable or a person duly authorised by the Minister may at all reasonable times, on production of his authority if so required, enter and inspect any land occupied by a person holding a licence granted under that section and any other land upon which he has reason to believe that live fish, or the live eggs of fish, of the species specified in the order are being kept or may be found.
- (2) In this section "land" includes land covered with water but does not include a dwelling-house.

Section 3

- (1) Subject to subsection (2) below, any person who—
  - (a) imports or attempts to import into, or keeps or releases, in any part of England and Wales any live fish, or the live eggs of fish, of a species specified in an order under section 1 of this Act
    - (i) in a case where the order forbids absolutely such import, keeping or release;
    - (ii) without having a valid licence granted under the said section 1 authorising such import or keeping, in a case where the order forbids the import or keeping except under such a licence;

- 2 (a) Kate wants to bring a case against her employer, Bill, to an Employment Tribunal so she completes and sends in the prescribed form. The Tribunal agrees to hear her claim and sends her form and a response form to Bill, telling him he has 14 days to reply or lose the case. Bill sends a letter to Kate and to the Tribunal 10 days later requesting an extension because he is ill. Kate writes to the Tribunal two days later opposing the extension but the Employment Judge grants Bill's extension without a hearing.

Explain how the Employment Tribunals Rules of Procedure 2013 will apply to Kate. [10]

- (b) Paul's dispute with his employer, Charles, is to be heard in an Employment Tribunal on 10 June. On 5 June, William, a key witness, sends his evidence to the Tribunal and to Paul in writing as he cannot attend the hearing. Charles gives his evidence by telephone through loudspeakers so that everyone can hear him. The Tribunal panel is made up of three people and two decide in Paul's favour. Their judgment explains how the law has been applied and the financial award sets out what Charles must pay Paul.

Explain how the Employment Tribunals Rules of Procedure 2013 will apply to Paul. [10]

- (c) Amir is bringing a case against his employer, Sheena, in an Employment Tribunal. He sends the prescribed completed claim form to the Tribunal.
